SIDE MONEY FROM STAGE

They're on sale exclusively at- Gives Little Baseball Talk as Vaudeville Stunt at The Columbia.

> The vaudeville footlights have claimed another "celebrity." He is George Edward ("Rube") Waddell, the baseball pitcher. The public has be come accustomed to seeing James J. Jeffries, "Jack" Johnson, Cole Younger and Jack Burns, the C. Q. D. hero, on the stage. Now the Rube has "broke in the game."

> Laying aside his more serious duties of pushing schooners across St. Louibars to admiring fans, hunting ducks "hitting" his employer, R. L. Hedges, president of the St. Louis Browns' club, for a part of next summer's salary, "Rube" comes to Columbia to make a little spending money of his own, "Rube," you know, is known to some persons who never heard o President Tatt.

> "Rube" is said to have starred one in a play entitled "The Stain of Guilt." However, it is well for him that his salary depends upon the strength of his left arm rather than upon his ability as an actor, critics

The "Rube" on Football.

It took the "Rube" about fifteen minutes to say his little piece last night at the Columbia theater. After he had rebuked the orchestra in the time-honored manner for its poor playing, he tried to describe the Missour: Kansas football game.

"They put a little egg-shaped thing in the middle of the field and kicked it. The next thing that I knew, they seemed to be fighting over it. I rooted for that Missouri team," said "Rube, pinning a bow of Old Gold and Black ribbon on the lapel of his cont. " only hope that our team, the St. Louis Browns, is as successful. I'm going to do my best to help them to win the pennant next summer."

But his monologue! It's all "Rube" Waddell. What a wonderful player he is or has been-"the great southnaw." But he does get one laugh with his 'slap-stick" comedy with the orchestra.

Would Be a Hunter. pitcher, I surely would have been a rofessional hunter," said "Rube" at | CHICAGO, Dec. 16.—The first new
